

Tate Woods Library Director Teams With Lisle Public and DuPage County Library Directors to Showcase Benefits of Cooperation.

Judy Bauman, LRC Director at Tate Woods, Lindsey Dorfman, Youth Services Director at Lisle Public Library, and Christina Stoll, former consultant for the Metropolitan Library System presented a session at the Illinois School Library Media Association conference at Pheasant Run October 29th. This year's conference theme was Bridging the Gap: Linking Learners and Libraries. Their session, entitled Public/School Library Cooperation, outlined the strong bond between Lisle District #202 and the Lisle Public Library. Developed over years of consistent planning and implementation, this model of cooperation has been well received by the statewide learning community. Judy also presented a session about using Accelerated Reader in a Balanced Literacy School. Participants appreciated the linked videos of children in
