

Tate Woods Celebrates Holiday Magic at Brookfield Zoo

On Saturday, November 21st, staff and families worked together to decorate the Tate Woods holiday tree at Brookfield Zoo's Holiday Magic Lights display. This beautifully decorated tree displays ornaments that are created by individual students under the direction of Mrs. Carol Frueh, art teacher at Tate Woods in grades 1 and 2. Tate Woods supports Brookfield Zoo in many ways during each school year. The students read books and gather pennies for each book read throughout the year. The pennies are then used to adopt animals at the Brookfield Zoo. Our collaboration with Brookfield Zoo is extended during the holidays. The presence of our Holiday Tree speaks highly of our support of zoo programs and their positive impact on children. Visiting the zoo this holiday season? You can visit our Tate Woods tree on all Saturdays and Sundays in December 4-9pm. Happy Holidays!
