Parent to Parent— Sharing Solutions and Support

Why is it harder to talk to your teen about sex than almost anything else? Sexuality is a topic that can feel daunting—and yet, it's a topic that we cannot afford to evade or ignore. Join us when Deborah Roffman—educator and author of Sex & Sensibility: The Thinking Parent's Guide to Talking Sense About Sex—candidly guides parents through the rhetoric that can so easily become distracting and offers a parents guide to communicating healthy sexuality.

Ms. Roffman, an articulate and nationally recognized speaker has been featured at hundreds of workshops throughout the United States and abroad. Her work has been showcased in the New York Times, Washington Post, Chicago Tribune, USA Today, Parents Magazine, an HBO Special on parenting, and on NPR. Ms. Roffman has also appeared on Nightline, The Early Show and in a highly acclaimed segment on teenage sexuality on ABC's 20/20.

Ms. Roffman understands that our society gives confusing and exploitative messages about sexuality. Data consistently shows that conversation with parents dramatically reduces teen risk-taking behavior. Sex makes for an easy sales pitch for the media and marketers, whose only concern is their corporate bottom line, with zero interest in the emotional well being of your teen. Please come and learn how to start the conversation, keep the lines of communication going, become clearer about the values you wish to convey and help give your child the tools he/she needs to develop into sexually healthy adults,
