DEPARTMENT MISSION

A strong and effective Social Studies program helps students make sense of the world in which they live, it allows them to make connections between major ideas and their own lives, and it helps them see themselves as members of the world community. It is the mission of the Lisle District 202 Social Studies Department to utilize the tools of the Common Core to provide students with the historical thinking skills to become good citizens, neighbors, members of society and informed participants on a local, national, and global level. With the culmination of their studies, students will be prepared to successfully navigate the requirements of capstone courses. Social Studies must also help students understand, respect, and appreciate the commonalities and differences that give people character and identity. The complexities of history can only be fully understood within an appreciation and analysis of diversity, multiple perspectives, interconnectedness, interdependence, context and enduring themes.

We as Social Studies teachers will strive to refine our methods, collaborate to coordinate curriculum and general learning philosophies, and stay informed regarding best practices and pedagogical innovation.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course will study sociology as a scientific discipline, offering an understanding of social interaction in many different settings. The main goal is to understand social situations and look for repeating patterns in society. The main focus is the study of the group, not the individual. Students will study forces that mold individuals, shape their behavior and thus determine social events. (.5 credit) (Junior-Senior)

COURSE LEARNING STANDARDS

- Write arguments to support claims in an analysis of substantive topics or texts, using valid reasoning and relevant and sufficient evidence.
- Write informative/explanatory texts to examine and convey complex ideas, concepts, and information clearly and accurately through the effective selection, organization, and analysis of content.
- Produce clear and coherent writing in which the development, organization, and style are appropriate to task, purpose, and audience.
- Conduct short as well as more sustained research projects to answer a question (including a self-generated question) or solve a problem; narrow or broaden the inquiry when appropriate; synthesize multiple sources on the subject, demonstrating understanding of the subject under investigation.
- Draw evidence from literary or informational texts to support analysis, reflection, and research.
- Write routinely over extended time frames (time for research, reflection, and revision) and shorter time frames (a single sitting or a day or two) for a range of tasks, purposes, and audiences.
- Cite specific textual evidence to support analysis of primary and secondary sources, attending to such features as the date and origin of the information.
- Determine the central ideas or information of a primary or secondary source; provide an accurate summary that makes clear the relationships among the key details and ideas.
- Integrate and evaluate multiple sources of information presented in diverse formats and media (e.g., visually, quantitatively, as well as in words) in order to address a question or solve a problem.
- Identify and apply the sociological perspective and a variety of sociological theories.
- Analyze the impact of social structure, including culture, institutions, and societies.
- Hypothesize how primary agents of socialization influence the individual.
- Describe the impact of social relationships on the self, groups, and socialization processes
- Explain the social construction of self and groups and their impact on the life chances of individuals.
- Analyze the impact of stratification and inequality on groups and the individuals within them.
